Happy New Year, Student and Parents!

I hope everyone has had an enjoyable and relaxing winter break, it was much needed for everyone. Once again, thanks to all the students for their nice gifts. I did share them with my family and remembered all of you during the break. Now we are fresh and ready to make a great artistic year.

Congratulations!

A big thumbs-up for Abhinav. He has won the second painting contest in his school and his painting will be published in the calendar for 2010. We will show his painting to the students of the studio as well. Good job Abhinav! You have made all of us proud for several times.

Important!

As also mentioned in the last Newsletter, we are going to have another exhibition this year by the name of CHOICE. In this show, the students will demonstrate how different choices make our life and world different. I explained the concept and purpose of this exhibition to the students before X-mass but parents may also help by providing more ideas.

Students are free to choose any topic as long as it can be related to the title of CHOICE. Some examples could be “saying yes or no”, “war or peace”, “choosing friends”, etc. Please give me your topic of choice by the next session; we need enough time to prepare.

Your art should be completed before the second week of March 2010 for you to be able to participate in the show.

Competition!

It is another year and there comes the contest of CANADA DAY. It is not just for the great prize that we want to be there, it is for the unforgettable experience and the joy and the excitement.

So get ready for another challenge in this New Year! Further information will come in the following Newsletters.

Words with parents

With this rush and speed of life, we do not need to tell each other how busy we are in the everyday routine of life. But if for just one minute we sit back and think about the most important issue in our life, it always comes down to our kids. Remember by their art, students are building a strong bridge between you as a parent and themselves. They do their best to show their strong self-confidence and also they try to show everyone in the world what they think and how they feel. So please continue your support and do it ceaselessly. Here are some clues:

- Ask what they have done and look at what they have made;
- Ask what they have to practice to be prepared for the next session.
- Prepare for them the right tools; not necessarily the expensive tools, just the right ones.
- Ask them to tell you about the techniques that they are learning and using.
- Make sure they are present in the class regularly and the importance of being on time.
- Remind them to apply their knowledge in the school and in their projects.

In the end, if there is any question or anything you are concerned about and want to share with me, please feel free to call me. Just remember when our class has started, I should be with the students and time is just for teaching them. So you can leave me a message and I will call you back. We can also arrange a time to meet and talk personally.

It is winter time and all the flu and cold symptoms are around us, one day there is lots of snow and the other day kids are invited to a Birthday Party and so on and so forth. Please note that Colorotopia does not accept any absences. If you need to review Terms and Conditions, please let me know and I will give you a copy or visit our website at www.colorotopia.com under Registration tab.

Happy Birthday!

A very big Happy Birthday to Anurag, Arvin, Abhinav, Julien and Mahshid in the month of January. I wish you all a colorful and paintful year! If you wish to celebrate your birthday with your friends in the Studio, please inform me in advance.

Thank you!
