March 2009

Hello everybody,

I hope you have had a wonderful March Break and are coming back with the freshness of the spring.

This newsletter marks the beginning of the spring and the Persian New Year. I would like to seize this chance to congratulate all of you on the Persian New Year and hope that this New Year would be brimming with good tidings of happiness and success for all of you.

Happy Persian New Year!

Well, spring is finally arriving daintily and gracefully! Snow has thawed away and the grass is showing signs of green again. Spring has always been full of inspiration for the artist. Try to look with a different eye and be inspired by the spring and all the fresh colors it is bringing. Be creative and let your imagination lead!

Exhibition

This year's exhibition is to be held sometime in June. We are still awaiting the confirmation from the administration of the location we are to display your artworks. I will notify you as soon as the location and the available date have been confirmed.

Thank you Rachel!

This is the high time I thanked Rachel for a number of reasons; she has always been on-time, has never missed a session, is kind and caring towards all the other students in her class, comes to class well-prepared and always has a cheerful disposition!

Thank you Sima!

I should like to also thank Sima for her wonderful research and paper on Mary Capan. Attached to this Newsletter, you may find a copy of her Paper.

Friendly Reminders!

Once again I would like to bring the following points to everybody's kind attention:

- Please bring your own tools and materials. You are not to use other students' things in the class. When you pack your bag for the class, make sure you have included all the tools and materials you need for the session. Do NOT borrow or lend your stuff.
- You must have some extra practice at home. One session a week does not take you too far. You need to practice at home at least twice as much as the time you spend in the class.
- Please don't be absent or late. Make-up sessions are difficult, or at times, impossible to arrange. In case you have to miss a session or lesson, please give us a notice well in advance.
- If you wish to bring a friend or relative as a guest, please do inform us in advance.
- Please respect Colorotopia rules of conduct. We all work here respectfully and observe each other's rights and freedoms. Please review the copy of the Terms and Conditions you have or read it on our website.

Thank you everybody and have a wonderful spring.
