

Newsletter

November 2008

Hello everybody,

This newsletter comes to all of you with the warmest congratulations to Abhinav for his success in the painting contest. One of his paintings (Landscape - Pastel) was selected as the best painting and was printed on a calendar of 2009.

Congratulations Abhinav!

Winter Holidays

This year, Colorotopia will be closed for winter holidays from Monday, December 22, 2008 to Monday, January 5, 2009.

Friendly Reminders!

I seize this chance to once again bring the following points to everybody's attention:

- Please bring your own tools and materials. You are not to use other students' things in the class. When you pack your bag for the class, make sure you have included all the tools and materials you need for the session. Do NOT borrow or lend your stuff.
- You must have some extra practice at home. One session a week does not take you too far. You need to practice at home at least twice as much as the time you spend in the class.
- Please don't be absent or late. Make-up sessions are difficult, or at times, impossible to arrange.
- If you wish to bring a friend or relative as a guest, please do inform us in advance.
- Please respect Colorotopia rules of conduct. We all work here respectfully and observe each other's rights and freedoms. I have enclosed a copy of the Terms and Conditions for your reference.

Thank you everybody and have a wonderful winter.
